Tour Terms of Service

If the list is reasonably close, we run the tour. Occasionally, only a few reservations have been received, and a decision to cancel the tour must be made. We then notify everyone who has made reservations and refund their money in full with 30 business days of cancellation. We hate to cancel a tour. Before it is offered in our schedule, we spend countless hours writing itineraries, making lodging reservations, contacting attractions, etc. All of these efforts are lost if the tour cancels. You can help us avoid cancellations by making your reservations (and encouraging your traveling friends to make theirs) early. We may receive inquiries after a tour has been cancelled. If they had called earlier, the trip might well have been possible. Remember our deposit requirements are small and usually completely refundable.

Itinerary Variations:

Tours are planned a year or more in advance. Between planning time and the actual tour operation, Kewl Tours constantly strives to improve each itinerary to your advantage, convenience, and enjoyment. If improvements can be made or unforeseen conditions beyond our control deem necessary, we reserve the right to vary itineraries and substitute facilities equivalent or of better value. During local or national holidays and Sundays, certain features such as museums, sightseeing tours and shopping may be limited or unavailable. In such instances and whenever possible, itinerary adjustments and substitutions are made to minimize inconvenience.

Fuel Surcharges:

From time to time, we may find it necessary to add a fuel surcharge, much like an airline charges. We do this to save the confusion of repricing and republishing prices. It may go up, or down, or be eliminated all-together, with fuel price changes.
